

Prospective TEDx Event to be Organized by the Chicago Alliance

Currently, the Chicago Alliance is in the early planning stages for a TEDx Alliance event. Ideally, the event will take place in the fall of 2017 in the city of Chicago. This event will be run entirely by volunteers who donate their time because they believe in the importance of sharing experiences and ideas worth spreading across the Chicago area human performance community and beyond.

For more on the Chicago Alliance, its members, and programming, see the Chicago Alliance.

What You Need To Know

Early planning has begun. Recent meetings have been attended by representatives from a majority of the Alliance member organizations. As a result of these discussions, the following ideas have emerged, including statements about vision, mission, and objectives.

Vision

To bring the TED Talk experience to the Chicago Alliance and greater Chicago area community of people helping people.

Mission

To host a Chicago-based, independently organized, TED Event focused on advancing the human experience in the workplace.

Come join us as we take a moment out of our busy lives and come together as we listen to and meet with some of the foremost minds on the topic of the people in the modern workplace.

What is happening in today's workplace? What is the latest research? What is happening in the field? How can we best transform the American — and indeed the global — workplace, to face the challenges of the 21st century? What challenges will we face as a nation? As a race? And how will these challenges affect the average worker and what can we professionals do to help those workers navigate in these uncharted waters?

Ultimately, that is our job, indeed, our mission in the human capital space. This will be an evening event to share with colleagues and friends as we bring together some of the best, thought-provoking presentations in one venue to explore, to learn, and to share collectively.